

DUNGEONS & DRAGONS LIVING FORGOTTEN REALMS

(character name)

HAS RECEIVED STORY AWARDS FROM:
(cross out those not received)

EAST1-4 DARKNESS IN DELZIMMER

EAST07 Battle Relic of the Crafty Kobold

This brooch was given to you by Gairn Boltsmelter of the Crafty Kobold Salvage Company. He told you that it was once the property of a drow warrior from an ancient house that fell long before the Spellplague and whose name is lost to history. The brooch has no magical properties that you can discern, but wearing it might elicit interest from any drow you encounter in the Underdark. Whether that attention would be beneficial or hazardous is hard to predict.

EAST08 Friends and Enemies in Low Places

The civic activist "Admiral" Drosta Ulmarath has spread word of your assistance in cleaning up a den of iniquity in the city of Delzimmer. The people of the East Rift now recognize you as someone who has a strong arm and knows how to get things done.

However, the smugglers you defeated and the underworld operation you disrupted were not without their own benefactors. Your humiliating defeat of an up-and-coming crime lord in Delzimmer has caused quite a stir. Who knows how the nefarious powers that operate within the city will react should you return there in the future?

DUNGEONS & DRAGONS LIVING FORGOTTEN REALMS

(character name)

HAS RECEIVED STORY AWARDS FROM:
(cross out those not received)

EAST1-4 DARKNESS IN DELZIMMER

EAST07 Battle Relic of the Crafty Kobold

This brooch was given to you by Gairn Boltsmelter of the Crafty Kobold Salvage Company. He told you that it was once the property of a drow warrior from an ancient house that fell long before the Spellplague and whose name is lost to history. The brooch has no magical properties that you can discern, but wearing it might elicit interest from any drow you encounter in the Underdark. Whether that attention would be beneficial or hazardous is hard to predict.

EAST08 Friends and Enemies in Low Places

The civic activist "Admiral" Drosta Ulmarath has spread word of your assistance in cleaning up a den of iniquity in the city of Delzimmer. The people of the East Rift now recognize you as someone who has a strong arm and knows how to get things done.

However, the smugglers you defeated and the underworld operation you disrupted were not without their own benefactors. Your humiliating defeat of an up-and-coming crime lord in Delzimmer has caused quite a stir. Who knows how the nefarious powers that operate within the city will react should you return there in the future?

DUNGEONS & DRAGONS LIVING FORGOTTEN REALMS

(character name)

HAS RECEIVED STORY AWARDS FROM:
(cross out those not received)

EAST1-4 DARKNESS IN DELZIMMER

EAST07 Battle Relic of the Crafty Kobold

This brooch was given to you by Gairn Boltsmelter of the Crafty Kobold Salvage Company. He told you that it was once the property of a drow warrior from an ancient house that fell long before the Spellplague and whose name is lost to history. The brooch has no magical properties that you can discern, but wearing it might elicit interest from any drow you encounter in the Underdark. Whether that attention would be beneficial or hazardous is hard to predict.

EAST08 Friends and Enemies in Low Places

The civic activist "Admiral" Drosta Ulmarath has spread word of your assistance in cleaning up a den of iniquity in the city of Delzimmer. The people of the East Rift now recognize you as someone who has a strong arm and knows how to get things done.

However, the smugglers you defeated and the underworld operation you disrupted were not without their own benefactors. Your humiliating defeat of an up-and-coming crime lord in Delzimmer has caused quite a stir. Who knows how the nefarious powers that operate within the city will react should you return there in the future?